DAILY SENTINEL.

WM E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

THE EARTH BENEATH US.

Ex. Ed. Fontaine delivered a lecture on this theme, at New Orleans, on the 7th ult. From the report in the Times of the 19th, we select a few paragraphs:

The lecturer treated largely of the inflammable gas which has long been known to escape from the mud lumps at the mouths of the Mississippi, and which has recently been discovered beneath this city. The artesian auger which pierced the earth beneath Canal street, in 1856, to the depth of 630 feet, furnishes considerable testimony as to the character of the delta. Mud, clay, sand, vegetable decompositions and shells are found in regular layers till the 56th stratum—the last one reached—which consisted of "sand and clay in small quantities of the nearly stony hardness." It is not supposed that the auger reached the metaceous formation which, in Texas, Alabama and Mississippi, is known to be 1000 feet thick, and as its dip in all these States is toward the Gulf of Mexico, it is supposed that it passed beneath the delta. In this connection the interesting fact is noticed that the coast of Florida is gradually sinking, while that of Texas is rising. Louisiana, lying between is regarded as stationary. Had the boring been continued on Canal street, it is estimated that pure water would have been obtained at a depth of from 1,300 to 1,800 feet; for the Mississippi, in its descent from its source, has cut its way through all its mountain chains east and west of it, and has filled with its waters all the outcropping layers of the earth's crust, from the granite to the more recent, filling the whole artesian basin with permeating streams. Two of the strata passed by the artesian auger are of tough clay, the upper one of which is thirty-six feet in thickness. At a point of 420 feet below the surface a mineral water, similar to that of Bladon Springs, was obtained; it flowed from the top of the well at the rate of six gallons per minute. This water possessed medical qualities of the most important character.

The gas bearing stratum, which has recently been tapped at many points, is about forty feet below the surface of the city.—Its product is carburated hydrogen, and is attributed to the decomposition of vegetable matter deposited by the Mississippi river, and the chemical action of various ingredients brought down by the river floods, and deposited in the sea-water of the gulf, in which the shells, now found beneath the city, were produced. The quantity of gas will, in all cases, depend on the thickness and quality of the vegetable stratum in which it originates, but the impression is warranted that there is enough natural gas beneath the city to illuminate every building in it for years to come, and at an expense comparatively trifling.

A MASONIC PROTEGE—IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

An impressive Masonic ceremony occurred in Trinity church, New York, on Sunday, 12th, viz: the baptism of the adopted daughter of the Masonic fraternity. The origin of this incident, according to the Sun, is as follows:

About a year since a very respectable man and wife came to this country from England. Shortly after the arrival the husband was taken sick and being unknown, fell into great distress, so much so that, when he died, his remains were buried in the Potter's Field. Shortly after, the wife gave birth to a daughter, and the fact was ascertained that the unfortunate man had been a Freemason, a secret he kept entirely to himself until after the body was at once disinterred, and subsequently buried in Greenwood with proper Masonic honors.—Soon after, the mother died, leaving the infant, but nine days old, to the charity of the world. Two lodges in this city, "Americus" and "Crescent," together with the "Masonic Board of Relief," took charge of the child, and placed it in the hands of a nurse. The sisters of Alph Chapter of the Eastern Star having been very recently informed of the above facts, some of them determined to visit the child, and found that the nurse had not properly attended to the duty for which she had been paid, and they resolved to remove the child and to look after its future welfare. Nimble fingers and skillful hands soon furnished a wardrobe, and yesterday the little orphan girl, now nine months old was presented at the baptismal font in attire fitted for the child of the wealthiest in the land. The seats nearest the altar were set apart for the fraternity, their only distinction being the emblem which they wore. Alpha Chapter No. of S. of E. S., was well represented, as were also Crescent, Americus and Putnam Lodges. F. and A. M. W. Bro. A. Perriam, of Crescent Lodge, had charge of the arrangements, and the following ladies acted as sponsors on the occasion: Mrs. Geo. W. Dilks, wife of W. Bro. Dilks, P. M., of "Eureka;" Mrs. Reed, wife of Bro. D. Reed, of "Washington;" Mrs. Asten, wife of Bro. Asten, of "Eureka;" and Mrs. Wm. Johnson, wife of Bro. Johnson, of "Americus," the two first named ladies being the President and Vice-President of the Chapter before mentioned. The ceremony took place shortly after the reading of the second lesson, the Rev. Dr. Ogilve officiating, and the baptismal name given to the child was "Jane Merriam Americus," thus enabling her to bear to the grave a memento of the means by which she had been saved from destruction and perhaps death. Dr. Ogilve subsequently preached a sermon, Mark x. 13: "They brought young children to Jesus," during which he impressed on the sponsors the duty which, he said, according to the manner in which they carried out the obligations, would either be sublime and eternal, or prove a sad and fearful mockery.

MELON CULTURE.

Mr. Thomas R. Center, of South Carolina, makes the following suggestions in the Southern Cultivator, as to the time and mode of planting, and the culture of the melon:

"In February and March break up the ground close and deep, and if an early crop is desired, cross break and lay off 10 by 10 or 12 feet, and dig out from a foot to 18 inches. Fill with rotted manure, composed of rich mould, ashes, cow-pen or fowl-house and leached ashes, after having been well mixed. Plant from three to five seed in a hill, if seed are plentiful, plant soon as the danger of frost is over. If the ground is in good condition the seed may be soaked for two or three days—never soak when the ground is dry. When the plants are a week old thin to two, and plow and hoe well. As soon as the plants show signs of running thin to one, plow and hoe again and not interrupt the vines after they commence running but work carefully with hand and hoe. If a succession of melons is desired plant again the first of May, and from the 15th, to the 25th, of June, and be sure you plant no squash, pumpkin or other vines in the same patch, if you wish to reap good seed, etc. I believe for market, those planted in June will pay better than the early ones, because they are generally larger and fewer persons have them. Many persons prefer guano and the phosphates for manure. I believe all the phosphates I have tried are very near a humbug, but let others purchase foreign manures when we can make good enough at home. It matters not how poor the land be for melons—sandy, old worn out clay, or broken sedge, I believe the best, if one peck of well rotted manure be put to each hill and distance be given the vines."

The Bankrupt Act.

We have been requested to publish the Bankrupt Law, this is impossible. It makes a respectable volume. In order, however, that our readers may understand it, and may therefore not be liable to be imposed upon by parties, who are insolvent, or the interest of others, we have taken some pains to compile from several sources the following general principles of the Act, for the benefit of all who contemplate seeking its benefits. But first of all, we advise our friends not to determine exactly what they will do, until they have had the counsel of a respectable and intelligent Attorney, upon whom they can rely.

1. The manifest design of the Bankrupt Law is to benefit honest, but unfortunate, debtors, whose just liabilities are greater than they can pay.

2. To become a voluntary bankrupt under this Act, the person must owe at least $300, which, of course, he is not able to pay in full.

3. Petitioners under the Bankrupt Act are required to render a schedule of all their debts and liabilities, of every kind and description whatever, and also an inventory of all their estate, both real and personal, including all property and effects of which they are possessed, or in which they may have an interest, though not in possession in conformity with certain "Forms" prescribed in the "General Orders" of the Supreme Court of the United States. These schedules, verified by the oath of the petitioner before a District Court Judge, Register in Bankruptcy, or U. S. Commissioner, must accompany the petition, and, when filed in the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy. If it should be found out, pending the proceedings at any time before the bankrupt is discharged, that he has, by any shift or subterfuge, made a false or partial schedule, this would be evidence of fraud and would defeat his discharge.

4. When the petition is by a firm or copartnership, a full set of schedules of the respective estates of the members of the firm should also be added.

5. When the petition is filed, the case is immediately referred to a Register, who examines the petition and schedules annexed thereto, and if they are correct in form, makes a certificate to that effect, to be filed with the Clerk, then adjudges the debtor a Bankrupt and issues a warrant to the messenger to summon all the creditors named in the petitioner's schedules to meet at the Register's office, at a certain time and place, to prove their claims and elect one or more Assignees to take charge of the Bankrupt's estate.

6. A creditor can, however, prove his claim at any time previous to the last dividend, which will generally be six months subsequent to the adjudication of Bankruptcy.

7. No creditor has any standing in a Bankrupt Court until he proves his claim.

8. Creditors have no right to compel the Bankrupt to answer questions concerning the disposal of property or sum acquired subsequent to filing a petition in Bankruptcy. In other words, the date of the filing of the petition by or against a debtor, is the date at which, if adjudication of bankruptcy follows, the odometer of things passes away and a new leaf is turned over." On this point decisions have been variant. The safe rule appears to be, that the applicant in Bankruptcy has a perfect right to claim whatever he has made after his application, by his personal exertions, but any profits he may have made from investment or credit, may be liable to the claim of the receiver up to almost the period of his discharge.

9. The Bankrupt can apply to the Court at any time after the expiration of six months, and within one year from the adjudication, for the discharge in bankruptcy, and in case no assets come into the hands of the assignee, or no debts be proved against his estate, at any time after the expiration of sixty days.

10. As soon as an Assignee is elected or appointed, the Judge or Register will convey to him, by deed of assignment, all the bankrupt's property except what is exempted, viz: "Household and kitchen furniture and other necessaries not exceeding in value ($500) five hundred dollars; also his wearing apparel and that of his wife and children, and such other property not included in the foregoing as is exempt from levy and sale upon execution or other process by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt resides, to an amount not exceeding that allowed by State exemption laws in force in 1864. A safe "Counselor suggests, under this head, that the common impression that persons may become bankrupts and yet be allowed to retain their houses and lands, or other property of considerable value, is a great mistake. Under the Act, no honest Bankrupt in this State can have allotted to him, free from the operation of the Act, exceeding $700, besides the wearing apparel of himself and family. Bankrupts in the State are not entitled to homestead exemptions under the Act.

11. It is the duty of the assignee, within twenty days after the assignment to him is made, to allot to the bankrupt such articles as are exempted, and file an inventory of the same with the value of such articles so allotted, and creditors may make objections to the report of the assignee at any time within twenty days after it is filed.

12. As to costs in bankruptcy proceedings, section fifty of the Bankrupt Act provides that the petitioner, before a warrant issues, shall deposit fifty dollars with the Register, or with the Clerk, to be delivered to the Register as a security for his fees. General order XXIX provides that the Register, Marshal and Clerk shall be paid out of the deposit before they can be compelled to act. It is also provided by General order XXX, that where the debtor has no means, and can prove the fact to the satisfaction of the Court, upon application, an order will be made requiring an the costs in the case to be paid out of the fifty dollars deposited with the Register. If, however, there are assets, but not enough to pay the Messenger after deducting the Bankrupt's exempted property, so that nothing comes into the hands of the assignee, the fees will have to be paid by the managers, but if the Assignee receives assets, the fees of the Messenger will be paid by him before any dividend is made among creditors.

13. Some suppose that the Register is entitled to $10 fee. The fees of the Register, Messenger, Clerk, and costs of publication of notices in Bankruptcy, are fixed by law, and if they demand higher fees, they are liable, as in other cases of misfeasance in office. In ordinary cases of Bankruptcy, the fees may amount to $100. In some cases more, in some less—the costs depending on the amount of labor and litigation involved in each case.

14. Differences of opinion among Attorneys have existed in this State, as to the limit which the Act makes, or to the time to make application in Bankruptcy. Some have supposed that no debtor will be permitted to apply for Bankruptcy after some early day in March, unless he is able to pay fifty per cent of his debts. We are assured that this is not the case. The law did not go into operation for the purposes for which it was enacted until June 1st, 1867. It gives twelve months from that time, to all honest debtors, whatever may be the extent of their indebtedness which they cannot pay in which to present their applications. After the 1st of June next, every debtor must be able to pay fifty per cent of his indebtedness in order to a successful application in bankruptcy, unless he first obtain the consent of a majority of his creditors.

TAXATION UNDER THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

During the canvass we discussed very fully the excessive taxation which would be necessary to meet the requirements of the State government under the new Constitution, and under the ordinances of the Convention. The question, whether or not the Radicals of the Convention had not tied their own hands and the hands of the General Assembly by the limitation to taxation inserted in the Constitution, was not made an issue, nor was it necessary.

The Convention went to work, not to form a Constitution for North Carolina as she is and will be for a time, it would seem, but one which seemed suited to States, Northern States, with large homogeneous populations, on the high road to prosperity, full of skill and enterprise. Such State governments, adapted more to the purposes of party, than to the uses and benefits of the people, must have numerous well paid officers, because the party lies "many friends to reward" and "many enemies to punish." They have given us such a Constitution.—The State government under it, must be enormously expensive if its officers are paid, especially at party rates. Of course such officers are to be paid. There are but three ways that a State can pay its debts and its expenses. First, by taxation—the only safe plan to preserve its credit and by which the people can be protected against extravagance and fraud. Secondly, by the issue of bonds to pay present demands, by throwing the burden upon the future. This is the most dangerous, because without a rapid increase in the wealth of a people, it tends to bankruptcy or repudiation.—Thirdly, by the sale of the interest of the State in her corporations or other property—a policy exceedingly dubious, unless progress and improvement are at an end.

The most unobjectionable and most safe scheme for a State to meet her obligations is by taxation. But this is a tender question for demagogues to play with. Taxation, not to breed discontent and the overthrow of a party, must always be light and fully within the means of the tax-payers.—Moreover, it must be as equal in its bearing upon the people as possible, but must always be made lighter by politicians upon the poor and the masses, than upon the property holders. Yet, under prudent management, it must be adequate to the wants of the State. Hence the necessity of a wise and prudent economy in creating State obligations.

The late Convention felt the force of these safe axioms, but elated with and blindly persistent in carrying out the highfalutin schemes concocted by the Yankee element in the body, it did not look before it leaped. It seemed to arrange, beforehand, for the "reward of its friends," and when it came to provide the ways and means, it boggled and hampered itself and the General Assembly.

The first section of the article on Revenue and Taxation says:

"The General Assembly shall levy a capitation tax on every male inhabitant of the State over 21 years and under 50 years of age, which shall be EQUAL on each to the tax on property valued at three hundred dollars in cash. The commissioners of the several counties may exempt from capitation tax in special cases on account of poverty and infirmity, and the State and County capitation tax combined shall never exceed two dollars on the head."

We observe that this matter has been the subject of discussion among our cotemporaries. We were made aware soon after the Convention adjourned, that an eminent jurist had expressed the opinion, that although the provisions of the Constitution evidently looked to excessive taxation, which our people were not now able to bear, yet he inclined to the opinion without having fully examined the subject, that the Convention had hampered the operations of the General Assembly in making provision by taxation for the enormous expenditures it had authorized, by the adoption of the foregoing section.

We believe the generally received and correct idea of interpreting a law or a Constitution, is by carefully collating its several parts reducing the whole to unity, and drawing from the language employed, (putting upon it its ordinary construction) the intent and purpose of the law-makers. The discussions of the law-makers while framing it, aid in its elucidation. But the habit of making up our minds first as to the intent of the law-makers by what we hold to be fit and consonant with propriety, and then forcing the language of the law, to support that idea, strikes us as erroneous.

In the above case the language is very plain. First, that the capitation or head or poll-tax as it is most generally called, shall not be more than $2 annually, upon each male inhabitant of the State, over 21 and under 50 years of age. Of course the Convention could not do otherwise than to fix some limit to the extravagance, or rapacity of the General Assembly in the taxation of property. The Conservative members at least, of that body, could not have been indifferent upon this subject, and must have contributed what they could towards securing that protection, especially in view of the reported declarations of individual Radicals that if they did not confiscate directly, they might force the sale of property by taxation. We insist, therefore, that the Convention did, in this clause, by express terms, so limit the powers of the General Assembly in the taxation of property, that it cannot tax any species of property for State and county purposes, higher than $2 on every $300 cash value of all property in the State cannot be taxed higher than $2 or, 66⅔ on every $100 ad valorem. Secondly, the plain object of the section was to make taxation equal—that no man without property should be taxed higher than $2 for State and county purposes, and that in order to maintain the rule of equality adopted by the Convention, all property should be only liable to be taxed $2 on every $300.

The fact that this tax will not be adequate to meet the obligations of the State under the Constitution, cannot justify the General Assembly in departing from a positive prohibition of the Constitution. Besides much of the legislation authorized by the Constitution to be done by the General Assembly, which would increase the expenditures of the State beyond the limitations as to taxation, is left to the discretion of the General Assembly, and is not imperious upon that body, until the necessity shall arise, and when it may be supposed the ability of the State shall be greatly increased by the increased value of the property of the people of the State.

MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE.—It is known that several of the Conservative Senators and Representatives elected to the Legislature of this State, are under the disabilities of the Howard Amendment.—Whether any attempt will be made to prevent them from taking their seats, before the Howard amendment becomes a part of the Constitution, we cannot say. Judging from the past, however, it is not unreasonable to expect that objections will be urged against them. Under such circumstances, would it be inappropriate if Hon. Bedford Brown, Hon. J. Turner, Jr., Judge Osborne, and others, would go to Washington, in order that the facts may be made known to Congress and that the claims of all Conservatives elect to seats should be urged, who are under disabilities?

THE OFFICIAL VOTE.—The impossibility of obtaining from the newspapers and our correspondents a full and exact account of the official vote on the new Constitution from the several Counties, has determined us to omit our table until we receive the official vote as published by Gen. Canby.—It is, however, particularly desirable that we should have the full official vote as reported by the poll-keepers themselves, immediately after the election, that a comparison may be instituted between the various reports.

MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE.—We are attempting to get up a correct list of the members elect to both branches of the General Assembly, with their proper names, color and party connections, but the information furnished by the press and by correspondents, so far, does not enable us to complete the list. If our cotemporaries in the State would publish a correct list as far as they know, it would enable the press to furnish a full list.

VOTES ON THE IMPEACHMENT.—The following tables of votes on the admission of testimony given by Senators, may indicate their final vote on the guilt or innocence of President Johnson:

SENATOR.	VOTES.	FOR.	AGAINST.
Fowler,	30	27	6
V. Winkle,	30	25	5
Grimes,	26	23	3
Fessenden,	29	24	5
Trumbull,	30	23	7
Anthony,	29	22	7
Ross,	29	19	10
Sherman,	30	17	13
Willey,	34	18	17
Sprague,	36	16	19

If any six of these Senators vote for the President, the impeachment is a failure of conviction. If thirty-three Senators vote for expulsion and seventeen Senators against conviction, they will lack one of carrying their point.

TENNESSEE.—So deplorable is the state of things in Tennessee that even that leading republican journal, the New York Times, is compelled to declare that "the condition of Tennessee is far worse than that of any other Southern State." The Times adds:

"The violence of political parties, the operations of secret societies, the feuds of families and factions, the animosity between the white and black races, the bitterness against the Brownlow government and the Brownlow policy have brought about a state of affairs in which life is unsafe, society is in constant disturbance and industry is seriously prostrated. We have recently had accounts from gentlemen conversant with matters in the middle and western portions of the State, which have given us a more vivid idea of anarchy than anything that we have ever before heard of in the United States."

Rich deposits of copper ore have been discovered in Polk county, one of the most mountainous sections of East Tennessee. Georgia, North Carolina, and South Carolina approach each other there, the spiral back rocks of several ranges of mountains and high ridges seem also to converge, and this vicinity is rationally supposed to comprise a great metalic field, of which the copper mines opened at Ducktown are but the outcropping. The mines, as far as opened, are scattered over a plateau of five or six miles extent, and elevated 1,500 feet above the sea. One of these mines yielded over one million pounds of refined copper last year.

RUSH OF EMIGRANTS TO THE UNITED STATES.—According to the Genoa papers, twelve vessels left that port for America in the month of March, taking out 1,066 emigrants, nearly all of them from Northern Italy—that is to say, from the best part of the population. A letter from Ireland says:

"The steamers belonging to the various companies calling at Queenstown have been found inadequate for the number of emigrants offering for transportation to Uncle Sam's territory. Although four emigrant steamers sailed that week, over five hundred persons have been shut out for want of accommodation."

The Nashville papers give the particulars of a duel fought with rifles between two young men, named Waldron and Jervis, in Overton county, a few days since. Jervis had indulged in a sneer at the other's courage and was challenged. At the first fire Jervis was wounded in the left arm. Waldron demanded another shot, and got it—through the heart. Jervis has left the country.

The Ohio Senate, last Friday, agreed to the House amendment to the Visible Admixture bill, and it is now a law. It prohibits persons with any mixture of negro blood from voting.

Our Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2, 1868.

Messrs. Editors:—It has fallen to the lot of some of the writer to enjoy the rare treat of listening to the great intellectual efforts and powerful legal arguments, of most of the distinguished gentlemen, counsellors for the President, before the Court of Impeachment.

The crushing arguments of Messrs. Curtis, Groesbeck and Stanbery, which have very effectually demolished the cause of impeachment, are so full of vigorous common sense, potent logic, and clear analysis, as to be easily comprehended, and appreciated, as they appear in print. But the splendid speech of Mr. Evarts, which has occupied four days in delivery, and with hourly increasing interest, could not be fully appreciated without having been heard. In its rare, and singularly fortunate combination of profound knowledge, of statesmanship, of political learning, of brilliant wit and scathing, though dignified sarcasm, of highly finished rhetorical display, of high toned bearing and honesty, and of profound legal research and astuteness, this great effort loomed up so far above the congressional standard, or anything which has been heard in those chambers for years past, that the listener felt as if almost insensibly carried back to a greater, better and purer period of morals and statesmanship, and might well imagine that one of the great men of our golden age was before him. For weeks past may have been seen seated at the counsellors table, an individual, who, while an attentive listener, was yet only an occasional participant in the active duties of the proceedings, but always prompt, adroit in debate, and ready in reply when called upon. Tall in stature, and in person thin almost to emaciation, with features soft, palid, gentle and almost of such womanly delicacy, that one can scarcely realize how this man is capable of undergoing such vast mental labor. In person, mind, and elevation of character, and even the shrill voice, there is much in him of the John Randolph and Alex. Stephens type. He has much of the intellectual brilliancy and sarcasm without the intensified bitterness of the former, and the good sense and true philosophy of the latter.—This is an imperfect picture of Mr. Evarts, of New York, who has in the past few days acquired a world-wide distinction. In the act of speaking he is slow, deliberate, courteous, and respectful, and employs the most appropriate, and impressive gestures. The long, bony, index finger which he uses with so much expressive significance, reminds one truly of the former pictures of John Randolph, of Roanoke. Under the guise of courtesy and respect, he has held up the Radical Congress, and their impeachment managers, and exposed their short-comings and faults to the world, while he laid on the lash of sarcasm in a way that these culprits could not escape.

Never has the Radical party been made to appear so contemptible, so mean, and unworthy as under the exposures of this man. Yet it was all done in so much honest candor, courtesy, dignity and truthfulness, that none could take exception.—These guilty men were compelled to submit to a lash gracefully, but unsparingly laid on, to witness the gleeful merriment of a vast throng, intensely enjoying the scene, and at times even forced, unwillingly, to join in the laughter at the ludicrous figure cut by themselves under the manipulations of the speaker. To understand and appreciate the effects of this great effort, extraordinary in these times of venal demagogueism and vulgar partizanism, because in every particular a copy of the distinguished masters of oratory of the olden times, the fact that during the four days of its delivery every available seat, steps, doors, &c., of the Senate galleries were filled, and such was the intense interest manifested, that this vast throng would remain seated for five and six hours each day, without changing their positions, is sufficient evidence.—But the character and reputation of Congress, and these notorious impeachment managers, have not only suffered from this intellectual combat, but the contrast in dignity of deportment, candor and high toned bearing, and honesty of purpose between counsel and managers, was such as to prove peculiarly damaging to the latter. In this Court may have been witnessed the scene day after day, of brazen audacity, arrayed against dignified rebukes, an blushing falsehood against truth, partizanism against statesmanship, violence against law, vilification and personal abuse against argument. When the splendid speeches and exhaustive arguments of Messrs. Groesbeck and Evarts were concluded, last week, not an individual outside of the Radical party that did not feel the utmost confidence in the acquittal of the President, so clear and convincing were the arguments. The latter is even known to have expressed a private opinion of that character. The very best informed of the conservative party entertained similar opinions and did not hesitate to express them. It has been repeatedly asserted that a bare majority only would vote for conviction. When we reflect upon the merits of the case, or rather the utter want of merits, we are imperatively forced to the same conclusion. But on the other hand, on a simple recurrence to the past history of the party, which is in the full blast of power, its disregard of law, and unscrupulous race for power, we are led as forcibly to the opposite opinion. The question of impeachment, except in the unsurpassed conduct, and elevated character of the President's counsel, and in the splendour of their intellectual efforts, has never approached the level of a great State trial, but has fallen to the low standard of a vulgar and partizan effort, only to evade the laws, and the Constitution. Impeachment has reached that stage, where it is a subject simply to be bandied about, to suit this, or that party intrigue, or to accomplish the personal, or political purposes, of individual politicians. Thus events formerly considered of sufficient importance to convulse great nations, are now used for the merest party purposes. No one concedes now, that impeachment is to be considered, or voted on in the light of merit. The friends of the measure are profligate enough to admit the allegation, while its enemies stand fully convinced of the probable fact. A question causing some degree of agitation, is a proposed movement, to postpone the decision, until after the Radical nomination is made. It is seriously apprehended by enemies of Ben. Wade, that if installed before that, he might be able by government patronage to secure the Vice Presidential nomination.—This is a sufficient justification with certain Senators, to protract the trial, if not to vote against conviction. It is questionable in the light of strict party policy, whether the mere possession of the Presidential patronage alone would compensate the party for the increased embarrassments and responsibilities accruing. At present, Radical power is supreme, while the President is no obstacle to party purpose whatever. On the contrary, he has proven a bond of union between them, as the object of attack and the subject of party conflict. The desperate conflict between himself and the Radical party has, unconsciously to the former, served to bind the latter in stronger ties of organization than without its aid. The President, too, while he has actually shared the responsibilities of office with them, has been made the convenient scapegoat for all their shortcomings and faults. Thus the offices being filled by the appointees of Lincoln, in four-fifths of the cases the mere possession of an empty government patronage, would prove an embarrassment rather than an advantage. By securing the Presidency just on the eve of a great election, while it gives them no additional influence, and acquired as the murderer acquires the shoes of the victim, it must add vastly to their difficulties.

B. B.

A MEMORABLE DEFENCE.

The spectacle presented at the impeachment trial on Saturday was extraordinary. The law officer of the Government, who had resigned his office in order to defend his friend and former chieftain, assumed in his plea the full responsibility of the measures of the administration. He threw the weight of his own high character and unsullied name around the alleged criminal. No one who knows Henry Stanbery would suspect him of a want of patriotism, of partisan bias, or of countenancing an illegal act. For years he has maintained the reputation of the moral lawyer and the moral gentleman. Incapable of meanness, scorning all subterfuge, gifted with a powerful and penetrating intellect, strengthened by years of severe study, he has stood, not only by right of office, but by right of character and attainments, at the head of the profession of which he has been the pride.—When such a man, with the impressive earnestness which touched all hearts, and with solemn words which must go down to posterity, vouches for the official acts of the President of the United States, and bears testimony to the integrity and patriotism by which they have been guided, it cannot fail to awaken a profound conviction both in the court and in the country. But when it is remembered that he has imperilled his life to bear testimony; that in the midst of a deadly struggle with the King of Terrors, watched anxiously by his friends and medical attendants, he has dictated these words; and that, against the remonstrances of the latter, he has risen from a sick bed to put them on record, we have an assurance of the sincerity of the man which no art can simulate, even were the advocate not incapable of such trickery. Henry Stanbery countenance illegal action on the part of him whom he pledged to advise honestly! Henry Stanbery give countenance to conspiracy and violence! The thing is utterly impossible, and so the country will affirm, no matter what may be the verdict of the Court of Impeachment.—Washington Evening Express.

LIBERIA—A COUNTRY FOR FREEDMEN.

BUCHANAN, G. R. County, Jan. 10, 1868.

I am happy to inform you that I am well and have been well ever since I left home, as have been all my family. I am very well satisfied with the country—better satisfied than I every was in all the days of my life. I thought I was free in America, but I was not until I stepped ashore in Liberia; and I thank God that I can now declare my freedom without fear. It was twenty-nine days after we left Charleston before we saw any land, and the first land we saw was Cape Verde, inhabited by the Portugues; the next was Monrovia, and then we landed at our station—Grand Bassa Country; and of all lands that I have ever seen before I have seen in this country; and all the trouble you have in getting your land is to walk about and pick it out for yourself. I landed here on the 4th day of January and came ashore on the 6th of January, and on the 8th I went out to inspect land and found it good. On the 9th I went out again and picked out my land between two towns—one mile from each. Of all the fruits I found on the land my tongue is unable to explain, but I will give you the names of some. First, a field of thirty acres of coffee. Second, cocoanut trees in any quantity.—Third, lemons by the bushel. Forth, the great palm tree, the most important and precious tree in the country, from which we get nice oil, cabbage, butter, then the kernel shingles, then cord and thread. And then, best of all, we can get wine of it to drink. Tell my brother Washington that this is the country to come to. I will now close by saying I remain yours,

MEMORIAL CEMETERY.—We are authorized and requested to state, that the usual ceremonies of decorating the graves of our noble dead, &c., will be observed on Saturday next, at 4 o'clock, P. M., at the Memorial Cemetery, under the auspices of the ladies of the "Memorial Association." The ladies and citizens generally are expected to participate. The Cemetery, we learn, is in fine order and presents a beautiful appearance. Proper respect for the memory of the dead is, under all circumstances and in all countries, regarded as one of the highest marks of civilization. In this case, as most of these brave men sleep far from the homes of their bereaved wives, mothers and sisters, it is peculiarly appropriate that their memories should not be forgotten by the fair sex near at hand, whose sympathies are called forth in the stead of their "loved ones" to do homage to the noble and the brave.

OFF FOR WASHINGTON.—It is rumored that Judge Reade, J. W. Holden, Col. Deweese, H. Adams, Gen. Laflin, Mr. Cowles, and perhaps others, left this city on yesterday for Washington. The object is understood to be to have the disabilities of many of the officers elect removed and to aid the State in "going home." It is also rumored that this company will be joined at Weldon by Hon. John Pool, Gen. Abbott, Col. Heaton, &c., and that Gov. Holden will follow today.

TRINITY COLLEGE.—The Annual Commencement at Trinity College will open on the 9th of June next.

Rev. Jas. E. Manu will preach the sermon before the Theological Class on the 7th of June.

J. Q. Jackson, Esq., will address the Alumni on the 9th.

Rev. Bishop Doggett will deliver the annual sermon on the 10th.

Hon. John Kerr will deliver the Literary Address on the 10th.

Commencement exercises on the 11th.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE.—It is announced that Lewis P. Olds, Esq of this city, will deliver the address at the approaching commencement at Wake Forest College.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—The Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this State, convened at Tarboro' on yesterday. The Convention will doubtless be a full one, as it is understood that matters of more than ordinary interest will be discussed. The plans of the Church in regard to the education of colored people and the ordination of colored licentiates, &c., will probably be taken up. Rev. Dr. Mason, Gen. W. Mordecai, Esq., K. P. Battle, Esq., Gen. Cox and others, perhaps, have left the City to attend.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE.—The annual commencement at Randolph Macon College will take place 24th. June next. Rev. Wm. E. Munsey, of Baltimore, the 'eloquent' preacher will deliver the Literary address. At the same time, Rev. Jno. S. Long of Washington, N. C. will repeat his fine lecture on the "Ethics of History."

THE N. C. MEDICAL SOCIETY.—This body will hold its fifteenth annual meeting in Warrenton, on Wednesday, May 20th. Dr. A. W. Notcum, of Edenton, is to deliver the annual oration.

HOW THE THING WORKS.—The Old North State states that the people of Salisbury were greatly shocked on Sunday last, at the report of an elopement of a young white girl only 13 years of age with a negro man named Wash. Smith, formerly of Anson County. They had not been heard from, but it is supposed he took her off to marry. Her father has advertised Smith and offered a reward for the thief. The Old North State seems to think there is no remedy, as the military authorities have sanctioned the marriage of whites and blacks. We know of no instance where they have sanctioned a marriage between whites and blacks of this character. The parties in every instance that we know of, were of full age and competent to decide for themselves, and as there was no law in existence prohibiting marriages of that sort, which the military authorities recognized as binding, they have allowed it. But we have no idea that Gen. Canby would countenance an act of this kind. If the girl was only 13 years of age, common law at least, would not recognize the validity of such a marriage, without at least the consent of the parents. We think, therefore, Wash. Smith is clearly liable to indictment and a suit for damages, if not for crime. Instance of this kind under the workings of Radical rule may be expected to be frequent. Perhaps their frequency, if nothing else, may arouse the white people after awhile to the consequences of giving their countenance to a Radical Constitution.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION.—This body meets in Baltimore the present week. The Southern Baptist Churches will be generally represented. Rev. Mr. Pritchard and several lay delegates from his Church in this city, left for Baltimore on yesterday.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the South, meets in Baltimore this month. Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of this City, will be in attendance.

REV. WM. M. PUNSHON, the celebrated Wesleyan preacher of England is now on a visit to the United States. He is a delegate to the General Conference at Chicago of the M. E Church. It is said he may take up his residence in the United States.

THE BODY of a negro man, formerly the property of Jas. E. Kerr, Esq., of Salisbury, on Sunday night last, was found horribly mangled on the N. C. R. R., near Holts burg'. It is supposed he was intoxicated and laid down on the Road and went to sleep.

GEN. F. P. BLAIR.—The Norfolk Journal has the following in regard to this distinguished soldier and civilian:

Another name has been mentioned in connection with the Democratic leadership—a statesman and a soldier, upon whom a compromise may be effected in the event of a damaging contest between the Pendleton and Hancock clans. We refer to Gen. F. P. Blair, of Missouri. As an original free-soiler, he would conciliate that sentiment in the great Northwest, where the Germans do most abound. As an old-line Democrat, brought up at the feet of Gamaliel, his name would rally the thousands of 'Old Hickory' men who have not affiliated of late with the Copperhead Democracy. As a distinguished volunteer soldier, he would offset Grant's popularity with the regular army.

But, especially, as a well known champion of the great American idea that "this is a white man's country, and must so continue," we think Gen. Blair would achieve for us what we need—success.

The Southern people and the Democratic party could not be charged with disloyalty to the Union, with hankering after slavery, or with undue attachment to the dead issue of secession, if they were to nominate for the Presidency a soldier who volunteered to fight for the Union, and a member of that family which, of all others in this country, has proved its devotion to freedom and nationality.

IMMIGRATION.—There is nothing so important to the people of North Carolina, and in fact of the whole South as the advancement of immigration. The future prosperity of North Carolina depends upon an increase of its white population, and it should be our fixed resolve to spare no effort and refuse no sacrifice necessary to attract white settlers and capitol. The surest way to accomplish this, and the most proper way to succeed, is to seek them abroad. Industrious and educated laborers, and production is all that we need to make the Old North State the abode of wealth and plenty. There is abundance of wealth now slumbering in the soil of this and other Southern States, and only industrious laborers and capitol are required to reach the foundation of prosperity.

Nine out of every ten of our farmers have more land than they can cultivate, and they should be willing to sell or lease the surplus to industrious, white immigrants. Let every land owner remember that every white immigrant he settles on his surplus land is not only an accession to the Democratic party, but also adds to the value of the land he may retain.

He, who has five hundred acres of land, can spare two hundred and fifty of it, and that quantity divided into five, fifty acre tracts would give him five new settlers, and in process of time the whites of every county in the State, would not only be doubled, but quadrupled and every intelligent man will agree with us that if our present white population was as large again as it is, our State would flourish, our lands would increase in value, and the State revenue would of course be doubled.

Undoubtedly, immigration has made the Western and Northern States rich, wealthy and powerful, and such portions of the country as are overflowed by industrious immigrants never fail to enrichen them.—Goldsboro Rough Notes.

WILMINGTON, CHARLOTTE AND RUTHERFORD RAILROAD.—We are glad to be able to state that President Cowan has just returned from the North, having made a most advantageous sale of the Bonds of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad. The sale was for cash at seventy-five cents. The amount sold is sufficient to pay the entire floating debt of the Company, and build the road across the Pee-dee River.

Speaking for the Southern democracy the Macon (Ga.) Journal, April 28, says if it knows aught of their temper or purposes, they "will vote in the New York Convention for the man, be he civilian or Federal General, who can win—whose strength before the country is such as to insure success and the consequent deliverance of the South from the hands of the oppressor. They will neither ask nor care to know what he said nor what he did during the war."

Mr. August Belmont has written to the Congressional Democratic Executive Committee announcing that it would be impossible to get the National Executive Committee together in time to change the day for the assembling of the National Democratic Convention. The day and place originally designated—the 4th of July at New York—will therefore have to continue.

MR. DAVIS.—There is a rumor mentioned in a Washington letter to the Baltimore Gazette to the effect that Mr. Davis will be discharged by Mr. Chase as coming within the terms of the general amnesty proclamation.

The body of General Paul J. Semmes, who fell at Gettysburg, was re-interred at Columbus, Ga., April 26.

FROM WASHINGTON—IMPEACHMENT AND OTHER MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, May 6, P. M.

HOUSE.—Stevens was called to order by the Speaker in his Alta Vela explanation, and withdrew it all. The part read was very exotic on Nelson.

Cary's resolution withdrawing the 10th. article was not entertained by a strict party vote.

The House went into a Committee of the Whole with the understanding, that the speakers would avoid discussing impeachment.

SENATE.—The Court was densely crowded.—Bingham concluded, in effect, as follows:

"He might be pardoned for quoting the words of England's great historian, that had the case against James failed, the tree of liberty would have crumbled. And shall it be said in history hereafter that through the defection of the American Senate, the fair, fabric of American liberty crumbled into dust, and the name of our Republic faded away before the nations. That in the spirit of justice, of liberty, of equality, that makes your Constitution respected every where, it leaves the people the right to make their own laws; and it is this right which is challenged by your recreant President. He claims the power to make their laws, to be their dictator. If he is allowed to do so, it will be by the voice of the Senate, not by the free will of the American people, or through any neglect of their representatives.

Will the Senate set him above the Constitution which he has violated and which he swore to obey? Perhaps he was saying too much, but he asked Senators to remember that he was speaking to-day in behalf of a violated Constitution and laws, of the rights of a free people; that he was speaking in the name of a half a million of braves who slept in death to-day—who had died that the nation might live. It only remained for him to thank the Senate for their attention and to demand, in the name of the House of Representatives and of a free people, the conviction of this accused President, who stands guilty before God and man of the high crimes and misdemeanors, of which he stands impeached. [Applause followed.]

Chase ordered the galleries cleared.

A motion to adjourn to Saturday, was lost 30 to 29. The doors were then closed.

A resolution to admit official reporters was lost.

Sumner's reactatio e were discussed to adjournment.

Donnelly says he was misunderstood in the House. He neither desired nor does he desire reconciliation with Washburne. His proposition to take a drink meant nothing of that kind.

Grant sent a message to Congress, entering a communication from Gen. Canby, detailing evil effect of compelling State officers of North and South Carolina from taking the test oath. Many good men, acting with the Union party, can't take it—other good men who could decline taking it, fearing unworthy motives would be attributed to them.

Grant expresses no opinion on the subject, merely transmits Canby's letter.

A protest from the white people of South Carolina against the Constitution was referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR, ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS. By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS. A BOOK FOR ALL SECTIONS AND ALL PARTIES.

THIS GREAT WORK PRESENTS THE ONLY complete and impartial analysis of the causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr Stephens, from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with APPARENTLY SIMILAR PRODUCTIONS, we promise a change of fare both agreeable and salutary and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire every where manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.

One in Boston, Mass., 103 subscribers in four days.

One in Memphis, Tenn., 106 subscribers in five days.

Send for Circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with Press notices of advance sheets &c. Address

DAILY SENTINEL.

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1868.

"ARE YOU A MASON?"

The following is an answer given by the Rev. Dr. Magill, on being asked the above question by a young lady:

I am one of a band
Who still faithfully stand
In the bonds of affection and love;
I have knocked at the door,
Once wretched and poor,
And there for admission I stood.

By the help of a friend,
Who assistance did lend,
I succeeded an entrance to gain;
Was received in the West,
By command from the East,
But not without feeling some pain.

Here my conscience was taught
With a moral quite wrought,
With sentiments holy and true;
Then onward I traveled
To have it unraveled
What Hiram intended to do.

Very soon to the East
I made known my request,
And light "by command" did attend;
When, lo! I perceived
In due form revealed
A Master, and Brother, and Friend.

Thus far I have stated
And simply related
What happened when I was made free;
But I've "passed" since then,
And was "raised" up again
To a sublime and more ancient degree.

Then onward I marched,
That I might be "Arched,"
And find out those treasures long hid;
When I beheld a bright flame,
From the midst of which came
A voice which my ears did accost.

Through the "veils" I then went,
And proceeded at length
The "Sanctum Sanctorum" to find;
By the "signet" I gained,
And quickly obtained
Employment which suited my mind.

In the depth I then wrought,
And most carefully sought
For treasures long hid there;
And by labor and toil
I discovered rich spoil
Which are kept by the craft with due care.

Having thus far arrived,
I further contrived
Among the valiant knights to appear;
And as Pilgrim and Knight
I stood ready to fight,
Nor Saracen foe did I fear.

For the widow distressed
There's a chord in my breast,
For the helpless and orphan I feel;
And my sword I could draw
To maintain the pure law,
Which the duty of Masons reveal.

Thus have I revealed
(Yet vainly concealed,)
What the Free and Accepted well know.
I am one of a band
Who will faithfully stand,
As a Brother wherever I go.

THE LOVE OF THE BEAUTIFUL.—Place a young girl under the care of a kind hearted, graceful woman, and she unconsciously to herself grows into a graceful lady. Place a boy in the establisment of a thoroughgoing, straightforward business man, and the boy becomes a self-reliant, practical business man. Children are susceptible creatures, and circumstances, scenes and actions always impress them. As you influence them, not by arbitrary rules, not by stern example alone, but in the thousand other ways that speak through beautiful forms, through bright scenes, soft utterances and pretty pictures, so will they grow. Teach your children then to love the beautiful. Give them a corner in the garden for flowers, encourage them to put in shape the hanging baskets, allow them to have their favorite trees, lead them to wander in the prettiest woodlets, show them where they can best view the sunsets, rouse them in the morning, not with the stern "time to work," but with the enthusiastic "see the beautiful sunrise;" buy for them pretty pictures and encourage them to decorate their rooms, each in his or her childish way. The instinct is in them. Give them an inch and they will go a mile. Allow them privilege and they will make your home beautiful.

In a Western village, a charming, well preserved widow had been courted and won by a physician. She had children, among them one a crippled boy, who had been petted, and, it not spoiled, certainly allowed very great "freedom in debate." The wedding day was approaching, and it was time the children should know they were to have a new father. Calling the crippled boy, she said: "George, I am going to do something before long that I would like to talk about with you."

"Well, ma, what is it?"

"I am intending to marry Dr. Jones in a few days, and—"

"Bully for you, ma! Does Dr. Jones know it?"

"The widow caught her breath, but failed to enter upon any further explanation."

Old Baker's wife discovered her best hen sitting in the back yard, and "burst up her nest." Soon after the wife came in much excited, and exclaimed: "My dear John, I took the eggs from the speckled hen, and she has gone and set on an old nest-ave."

"Let her set," said the old man; "if she sets on an axe, maybe she'll hatchet."

A musician, celebrated for his devotion to the rosy god, having sacrificed too freely, found himself at a loss in the orchestra of one of the theatres, on tuning his instrument, to produce harmony. The leader of the band, rather displeased, demanded what was the matter with his violin. The votary of Bacchus, after a short pause, answered: "Why, sir, my fiddle is acting Hamlet. It says, 'though you can fret me, you cannot play upon me.'"

B. F. B. and Chandler, of the Senate, were walking up Pennsylvania avenue, in Washington, the other day, when Butler remarked:

"Well, Chandler, you have called me a d—d rascal often enough, but did you ever hear any one call me a d—d fool?"

"Not exactly," replied the amiable Senator, "but I have often heard you called a 'spooney,' Ben."

"What sort of a spooney," asked Ben, not taking the joke.

"Why, a silver spooney, of course."

"Sally, I've got a sweetheart—such a nice young man; and he's in a profession."

"Oh, Jemima! don't use such funny words."

"It ain't a funny word at all, Sally; it's a business."

"Business, Jemima, what business?"

"Guess what it is. It begins with ho."

"I know Jemima, it's a hoflicer."

"No, it ain't though; it's something much better than a hoflicer."

"Then it's a hoctioneer; that's it Jemima."

"Oh, you hateful thing, to think of anything so vulgar. He's a horange merchant."

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C.,

Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS Journal, it shall be equal to any.—The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.
